TIM CAMPBELL IS VERY ILL.

HAS ONLY A FIGHTING CHANCE TO GET OVER PNEUMONIA.

Said to Be the Political Godfather of More Policemen and Firemen Than Any Other Politician—He Was Made Fa-mous by His Rejoinder to Cleveland.

Former Congressman Timothy J. Campbell is lying dangerously ill with pneu-monia at his home at 14 Columbia street, and his recovery is not expected. There was a consultation of his physicians yesterday afternoon, after which his wife was told that he had a fighting chance to recover, but that she should be prepared for the worst.

Mr. Campbell was taken ill two weeks ago with a severe cold and about five days ago pneumonia developed. Very few of his friends and acquaintances were made aware of his condition, as the physicians decided that he should have entire quiet. The Hon. Tim Campbell was for many years a prominent factor in New York politics, and on account of his quaint humor and ability to make friends of those of all shades of political opinion became famous throughout the country. Perhaps the most signal display of his magnetism was the friendship he enjoyed with President

Grover Cleveland. It is a famous story of those days that on one occasion when he asked President Cieveland for a favor for a constituent, the

"I can't do it, because it is not Constitu-

"Ah, what's the Constitution between friends?" replied Campbell.

He was born in County Cavan, Ireland, in 1841, of Scotch-Irish ancestry. His parents removed to this city when he was five years old. He learned the printer's trade and was subsequently admitted to the bar. When he became of age he jumped into politics and in 1868 he was elected to the Assembly, where he served continuously, except for one year, until 1876. Then he the Assembly, where he served continuously, except for one year, until 1876. Then he was elected as Civil Justice. He held this

In 1883 he was elected a State Senator, and in the middle of his term he opposed the election of S. S. Cox to Congress.

In March of 1885 Mr. Cox was appointed Minister to Turkey and Campbell was a candidate to succeed him. He was elected by a slender majority. He was reëlected by a still smaller majority, the Hon. Thomas F. Grady running against him as a stump candidate and being defeated by only 380 plurality. In 1888 Campbell was defeated by Judge John Henry McCarthy by a tremendous majority.

In 1890 Campbell was reëlected to Congress on the union nomination of Tammany Hall, the Republicans, the County
Democracy and the New York Democracy
In 1894 he tried again, but was turned down by Tammany Hall, the nomination going to the late Henry C. Miner. Campbell ran as an independent after the late John "Shiner" Simpson had won the Republican nomination from him through the intervention of the courts. In the three-cornered fight Miner was elected.

In 1896 Campbell ran again on an independent nomination with a Republican

J. Bradley. Since that time, although taking an interest in politics, he had ceased to be a factor.

While in Congress Campbell made legions

They have one child, a girl, who is about 9 years old. Shortly before Campbell was taken ill he visited the house of Gus Anger a retired baker and a lifelong friend and sang in a phonograph his favorite song "If I Return Again."

once when he was absent from his seat in the Fifty-second Congress a bill was called up and every vote was needed. Campbell hurried from New York at the call of the party leader.

"What's the matter with you ducks?" he said on his arrival. "Don't you know I have been sick. Ask me doctor. He'll you my system is full of insomnia."

The American Bridge Company has expressed its willingness to see a local committee and it was said a committee will call on the company early this week.

The Oriental Club was founded many years ago by the Hon. Tim and it is one of the few social organizations that has survived the many changes on the lower East Side. Its fortunes were always linked with the political fortunes of Campbell and many of his friends of long ago are still active members of it.

At a beefsteak party given by the club at its headquarters in Grand street several weeks ago Campbell was the presiding genius, and speeches were made by District Attorney Jerome and Col. Robert Grier Monroe. The annual excursions of the Oriental Club have been notable events on the East Side for years.

Oriental Club have been notable events on the East Side for years. Campbell's face and figure are well known to New Yorkers. Few men had more per-sonal acquaintances and he had a remark-able faculty of getting favors for his friends. It is said that he has got more men ap-pointed to the Police and Fire departments than other politician in the city.

"THE MAD MULLAH OF MIASMI." Princeton Students' Dress Rehearsal of Their New Oriental Play.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 4.—The first dress rehearsal of "The Mad Mullah of Miasmi," the musical comedy which the Princeton Triangle Club is to present this year, was held last evening. There are about fifty-five men in the cast. The play is under the stage direction of Uri B. Grannis, '03, president of the club. The comedy was written by M. S. Burt, '04, and the music was composed by R. B. Mixsell, '03, and K. S. Clark, '05. D. Adler Mixsell, '03, and K. S. Clark, '05. D. Adler designed the costumes and the musical director is O. A. Hack, '03.

The plot of the play opens in an oasis in Arabia, with Prof. Dodlebat at the head of a research expedition in pursuit of an extinct bird, together with Prof. Dodlebat's companion, Dr. Henglecooper, a German professor; Doris, daughter of Prof. Dodlebat, and Mrs. Sponge, Doris's sentimental chaperon. Twigs van Twiggicum of New York and Newport, in love with Doris, has followed the expedition. On their arrival at the oasis they are in desperate straits for lack of money. Prof. Dodlebat hears that the Mad Mullah of Miasmi, possessor of the "Great Sad Diamond," is in the vicinity, and the professor and Dr. Henglecooper plan to steal the jewel.

About this time Awfuli Sad, the Mullah's fessor and Dr. Henglecooper plan to steal the jewel.

About this time Awfuli Sad, the Mullah's Can, who has been four years at an American college, returns, accompanied by Lieut. John Galacre, U. S. N. Both Awfuli Sad and Galacre fall in love with Doris. In the justified the German professor and the latter steals the diamond without the knowledge of Dodlebat. When the theft is discovered Twigs and Henglecooper are suspected, and the first act ends with their arrest.

The second act opens in the Mullah's tent, and is concerned with the love affairs of Doris and her three suitors. Dr. Henglecooper tries to regain possession of the diamond, which he has hidden, and the act ends happily with the pairing off of the lovers in true comic opera fashion.

ADMIRAL RODGERS ON DECK. Ready and Willing to Purge the Navy Yard

The threatened strike at the Brooklyn navy yard didn't last long. When T. S. Massey, alleged to be a walking delegate from the Housebuilders' Housesmiths and Bridge Builders' Union tried to induce the non-union men employed by the Brown Hoisting Machinery Company to quit work on the travelling crane, which is being set up to facilitate the construction of the new battleship Connecticut, twenty men, all skilled mechanics and all non-union men, were employed on the work. After the assault on Frank D. Beale, the Brown com-were employed on the work. After the assault on Frank D. Beale, the Brown company's foreman, on Thursday morning, some of the twenty men got scared, and, feeling they would get the same dose as Beale got, quit work on Friday night.

After they had quit, some of the naval officers at the yard and Mr. Beale let the faint-hearted know that if they wanted to keep at their work they would receive all the protection they needed, even to the extent of being attended to and from their homes. They were given to understand that the United States Government knows no difference between union and non-union worknen, but that when a union walking boss undertakes to interfere with the Government's business, whether it be the construction of battleships or anything else, the Government will see to it that the interference doeen't last long.

These assurances satisfied the men who had been intimidated and every one of them returned to work yesterday morning. Rear Admiral Frederick Rodgers, commandant of the yard, has never been regarded, in his long career in the navy as a real first class sort of a person to monkey with. It is a matter of general understanding in the yard that the Admiral isn't looking for any rumpus with labor unions, but that if Mr. T. E. Massey or any other ing in the yard that the Admiral isn't looking for any rumpus with labor unions, but that if Mr. T. E. Massey or any other walking delegate has any intention of trying to stir up trouble among the workmen in the Brooklyn navy yard he'd better change his mind. If he doesn't he may find that he has a few troubles of his own to look after.

LOWELL MILLS MAY RESUME. Signs That Some of the Strikers Will Break Away From the Union.

LOWELL, Mass., April 4.-It is possible that cotton mills may resume operations within a short time. It is evident to-day that the mill managers are feeling the pulse of the strikers, who have been out a week with a view toward resumption of week with a view toward resumption of work with a small force. The sign that they look for is the appearance of a disposition among the idle masses to break away from the union leaders and seek reinstatement at the old schedule of wages. When this disposition seems strong enough to insure a well-balanced force in all departments some of the agents, if not all, will set a date for reopening their mills and invite former employees to return.

Supt. Bowen of the Appleton Mills said this morning that it seemed to him possible to start his plant with half a force. Selling agents have not stopped sending orders to the mills for future delivery. During the paying off of the help on Thursday and Friday some of the operatives announced that they were sorry to be involved in the trouble and would rather be at work. To run the mills with a short force would not be very profitable, as it will cost practically as much as when the machinery is in full operation.

NOT TO EXTEND STRIKE. Local Organizations Would Have Nothing to Do With Buchanan's Plans. President Buchanan of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironvorkers left New York by the first train for Chicago yesterday morning, after a complete failure to induce the local or-ganization to agree to extend the strike against the American Bridge Company.

With Buchanan out of the way it is expected that the present strike of ironworkers will be called off this week in order to clear the way for the general demands of the ironworkers.

The American Bridge Company has expressed its willingness to see a local committee and it was said a committee will call on the company early this week.

NEW HAVEN, April 4.-President John M. Hall of the New Haven railroad said tonight that as far as he knew all the serious labor troubles on the road had been straightened out and, as he believed, to the satisfac tion of the employees. There are a few minor matters to be adjusted, but these will only take a few hours at the most.

The 850 car workers in this city will ask for a conference in a few days in an effort to get a new schedule of wages that will mean an increase of from 10 to 12 per cent. The freight handlers are not quite satisfied with their schedule and will try to have a readjustment.

Washington Not at All Worried About

WASHINGTON, April 4 .- The Navy Department has received a report from Rear Admiral Rodgers, Commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, of the attempt of Walking Delegate Massey to induce workmen to quit. His report of the circumstances agrees with the account contained in THE SUN of this morning. Admiral Rodgers said that he had caused Massey to be ejected

Sun of this morning. Admiral Rodgers said that he had caused Massey to be ejected from the Navy Yard and forbidden him to return. The Navy Department has taken no action, but will probably approve Admiral Rodgers's course, either directly or by not objecting to what he did.

Naval officers are not concerned over the Massey incident. They do not fear a strike among those employed on the Connecticut. Some years ago there was a strike at the Mare Island Navy Yard. The Navy Department declined to make concessions and the strikers ultimately applied to be taken back. Some of them were reinstated. Since then the department has not had any serious trouble with labor unions. Recently some pattern makers at the Brooklyn Yard caused trouble and the department threatened to discharge them. The pattern makers asid that their labor union would make it hot for the Navy Department if they were displaced. The department discharged them. The labor union declined to take any action.

No End in Sight of Saratoga Strikes. SARATOGA, April 4.-The Painters, Paperhangers and Decorators' Union does not appear anxious to end the strike which began on April 1. All negotiations are off between the union and the Master Builders and Contractors' Protective Association, was the substance of the declaration made by the association this afternoon when the proposition to arbitrate was submitted by the strikers. The masons, brioklayers and plasterers are still out and the carpenters and joiners will join the strike movement on Monday morning.

New Officers for Swift & Co.

CHICAGO, April 4.- The directors of Swift & Co. met to-day in the general offices of the company and held an election of officers, made necessary by the death of the founder of the firm, Gustavus F. Swift.
E. C. Swift of Boston was made chairman of the board of directors and Louis F. Swift was elected vice-president. It was agreed that the general business policy of the firm would remain unchanged.

DAMAGES FROM A LABOR UNION

LODGE OF MACHINISTS MUST PAY $2,500 FOR A BOYCOTT.

Injured the Business of a Vermont Concern Which Hired Non-Union Men-Property of the Members of the Order Attached

the Case-An Appeal Taken. RUTLAND, Vt., April 4 .- The suit of the F. R. Patch Manufacturing Company of this city against Protection Lodge No. 215, International Association of Machinists, which has attracted wide attention, was decided when the jury in the County Court to-day brought in a verdict awarding the company $2,500 damages. The suit was against labor union, an unusual case, and many precedents were established during the odge were employed by the F. R. Patch Manufacturing Company up to May 20, 1902, when they struck for a nine-day hour, natead of ten, without reduction of day. The company began to hire non-union help, which they secured in New York. This brought on the trouble. Every batch of men that arrived here was met by the pickets of the union and a large proportion never reached the Patch plant. The strikers also declared boycotts on the company's goods and induced local grocers not to sell goods to the company or its employees. They also hindered the company in many other ways, but the plant its still running with non-union workmen.

As the result of the boycott the business of the company fell from $169,000 during the first five months of 1902 before the st rike was declared to $41,000 for the last seven months of the year. Suit was brought against the union in January for $10,000. and more than 100 attachments here served n connection with it. The real estate of every member of the lodge who had any was attached, and from this property the Patch company will collect the amount of the verdict.

Judge Seneca Haselton in his charge to the jury laid great stress on the fact that a large number of union officials, who were wanted as witnesses in the suit, disappeared from the city and also on the fact that all of the books of every union in the city were hidden during the trial. He sharply arraigned the union men for these acts. It is believed that this charge had considerable weight with the jury. The union has taken an appeal and will carry the case to the Supreme Court.

WOULDN'T WORK NINE HOURS. ,500 Miners Refuse to Obey the Strike

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 4.-Fifteen hundred miners were made idle here to-day because company hands of the Mineral Union and Reading Collieries refused to work after being informed that they would have to work their full nine-hour day every Saturday. The men say they want to work eight hours on Saturday and receive nine hours' pay. Heretofore each Saturday they worked nine hours and received ten hours' pay. Three thousand workmen are now idle hereabouts because company hands have struck. It is thought that most of them will return to work on next Monday pending a meeting of the conciliation committee to be appointed by United Mine Workers and coal companies.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 4.—National President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers has written here that he is coming to Scranton soon to look into some of the matters of dispute between the United Mine Workers and the operators over the interpretation of the awards of the commission.

WILKES BARRE, Pa., April 4.—Officials of the Delaware and Hudson Coal Company who have been trying to get the miners to work ten hours a day instead of nine owing to the brisk demand for coal have failed. They are much annoyed and say that the men are violating one of the provisions of the commission's award, which says that the men shall not take concerted action to restrict the output of any colliery.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 4.—Open dissatisfaction with the restrictions the coal companies have placed upon the award of the strike commission has led to a threatening situation at the mines here. The repair men at the Wadesville and Glendower collieries to-day joined the ranks of the strikers from other collieries. They say the Philadelphia and Reading Company

instead of giving them the benefit of the

THE SCHENECTADY STRIKE.

35 cents an hour. They began advertising for them to-day. They assert that if the union men do not return to work on Monday they will put on non-union men and those belonging to the Amalgamated Carpenters' Union from other cities. The striking carpenters say that four-fifths of the union men in the city were at work to-day at the new scale, 40 cents an hour.

The several trades unions at the General Electric works will make a demand on Monday for fifteen minutes more at noon. The day for fifteen minutes more at noon. The men are now allowed thirty minutes for dinner. They ask for forty-five.

Union Labor in Texas Alarmed. DALLAS, Tex., April 4.-Organized labor is alarmed over the new anti-trust law. Meetings were held last night in various cities and numerous mass meetings of labor bodies have been called all over the State for to-morrow. A State convention is to be held to consider the situation. Organized labor has fully 100,000 voters in Texas and 90 per cent. of them have been voting the Democratic ticket.

COURT TENNIS.

Crane, Jr., Retains Champ Title in Hard-Pought Match.

Bosron, Mass., April 4.—Joshus Crane, Jr., the court tennis champion, successfully defended the title at the B. A. A. this morning against the challenger, C. F. Sands of New York. It took four sets to decide the issue, Crane winning, 6-1, 5-6, 6-5, 13-11.

Issue, Crane winning, 6—1, 5—6, 6—5, 13—11.

In the first set it looked as if Crane might make a runaway match of it, as he put up such a fast and brilliant game that the challenger was nowhere. With one set against him, Sands then played one of the pluckiest up-hill matches ever seen in a champion-ship tournament. Sands began to show his strength in the second set, when he secured a lead of 5—3 on the champion.

A pretty battle for the set ensued, Crane pulling up to 5 all, but he could not make three straight, so Sands took the set, 6—5.

In the third set it was nip and tuck all the way, and from 3 all it was anybody's set up to the final games. Sands had hard luck in this set. He was within one point of winning a hard-fought deuce game when the deciding point was awarded against him and the set went to Crane, 6—5.

In the final set Sands put on considerable speed, and in a very short time he had a lead of 5—2 and only wanted a point for the set in the eighth game, which went to deuce and was finally won by Crane. The latter then, by good playing and hard drives close to the net and into the corners, earned point after point and brought the score up to nine games all. A gruelling finish ensued, with first one man having the advantage and then the other, and in this way they struggled along until the score stood 11—10 in favor of Sands. Then the champion won three straight games and took the set 13—11 and the match.

as if the Newport Yacht Racing Association would not hold any rices this season for the 90-foot sloops, but no reason for this is given. One of the officers of the association who was asked if any dates had been arrranged for the Cup defender class said that no dates had been arranged and he did not think that any would be.

Two years ago the Newport association figured largely in the races between the big single stickers, and it was in the races here that the Lawson boat Independence had an opportunity to meet the Columbia and Constitution. Why the association has abandoned this class this year is a matter of much speculation.

doned this class this year is a matter of much speculation.

It is probable that the association will hold its annual regatta for all classes, but it is not now thought that the big sloops will race. The association is in a prosperous condition, and, although there are rumors of friction between its members and the New York Yacht Club, such is denied by members of both organizations. As the regatta committee of the New York Yacht Club has arranged for all the races for the big sloops, it is believed that the local association does not think that additional races will be necessary, especially as a majority of the races are to be held off Newport.

Mrs. Frank Foster, who won her sixth straight race at the meeting to-day, will not race any more this meeting, according to John Pangle, her trainer, but will be rested up for the Canadian circuit.

A great crowd had been witnessing the departure of the coach from the Mansion House, and it was noticed that not all of the men, for it was a star party, were well tucked into their seats before the coach was on its way. The contact with the tracks at the corner made the coach sway on the turn and the young man went over the side of the coach. The injured man was carried to Dr. Donohue's office, where Dr. Schuyler Clark found that his chief injury was a bad gash in the forehead. The wound was bandaced, and the unfortunate young man was put to bed at the Mansion House. He will probably return to New York to-morrow. The rest of the party went on to Lakewood.

James H. Hyde was not on the coach to-day.

WASHINGTON, April 4 .-- A holiday crowd numbering 6,000 persons attended the races at Bennings to-day and saw some good sport. The Mount Vernon Purse, for two-year-old fillies at four and a half furlongs, was a four-horse affair, R. W. Walden's Petunia declining the issue. R. T. Miller's Adel Trebla looked to have such a sure thing that she was made a prohibitive favorite at 1 to 4. But her race was not up to expectations, even though she did win, for Redfern had to subject her to the whip in order to beat Pleasant Memories by a neck. The latter was well ridden by Lewis, a recent arrival from California. Reverberate, a Kantaka filly from the Pepper Stable, was third, only beaten a neck, and fifteen iengths before August Belmont's Mica, a full sister to Mizzen.

The Spring Hunters' Steeplechase was a farce comedy in which only two of the seven starters finished. J. D. Hall, Jr.'s Charles O'Malley and Duke of Grassland were coupled favorites at 7 to 5, with C. W. Smith's Montrip secondgin demand at 5 to 2. S. J. Holloway rode his Marsac gelding R. B. Sack, 7 to 1, to a galloping victory of eleven lengths over Montrip. Four of the others, including the favorites, fell, while another refused. The crowd roared with laughter and the course looked like a battlefield. About two weeks ago Mr. Holloway, while schooling one of his horses, fell and broke his collarbone. In to-day's race he had one of his armsstrapped to his side. He was enthusiastically applauded when he rode back to the scales.

The Goughacres Stable cut loose a genuine good-thing in the fourth race, for two-year-looking filly by Atheling—Maid of Athens. She opened at 15 to 1, but was sono backed down to sevens. Murray, a stable boy, had the mount instead of the regular Jockey, Haack, and as soon as the barrier went up he took the filly to the front, never to be caught. Frecian Maid had to be ridden out, however, to win by two lengths, as she had been kept in the deepest going. Ora McKinney, second choice, was second, two lengths before The B before The Brown Monarch, who was favorite at 13 to 10.

The fifth race, for platers, at a mile and forty yards was easy for Bon Mot, the 3 to 5 favorite, who had ten lengths over Dark Planet at the wire. Lord Badge, another favorite, won the last race, a handicap at seven furlongs in a drive by a length from Daly. Three favorites and a second choice made the talent satisfied with the day's proceedings. Redfern rode three winners and a second.

Mamphis, April 4.—The Ardelle Stakes, scheduled as the feature event of the card this afternoon, proved a disappointment to the spectators, owing to the withdrawal of every horse having a chance against the double entry from the Schorr barn. The odds were prohibitive on these two and the betting was exceptionally light. The race was a gallop for Walterin, at 1 to 20, Bullman up. painless subcutaneous injection; instant in relief, complete and PERMANENT in its cure. It is the only human agency through which specific blood poison can be cured. It has been administered for many years in the private practice of Dr. Francis A. Sieber, its discoverer, and with PERFECT results during the last two years by this Company. The blood poison sufferer who continues to poison his system with mercury and potash, or who goes without relief after reading this offer, simply prefers misery to health and death to life:

The International Serum Toxin Co., 723-8 St. James Building, New York City, has just converted a well-known practitioner from a Hudson River city, who had a bad case of contagious blood poisoning, by curing him! This grateful doctor doubts no more, but is profuse in his gratitude to his brother physician, Dr. Francis A. Sleber, who discovered and perfected the serum that is anti-toxin to blood poison, and the only human agency through which it can be eradicated from the system.
